probably referencing a technical color of the bold rock. With the drop capital rule applied to gold, it becomes, old, bold, cold, mold, nold, sold. Cold and bold are stone boulder colors, hence the saying, stone cold. White, blue, green, purple, black are listed as compound cold colors in Sir Wyke BAYLISS Reeves&Sons, books.google.ca/books?id=hi5kAAAACAAJ 1855 - Light in art - 32 pages. Bold colors listed on Dulux Paint are teal, purple, orange gold, and red. Mood rings made from chromatic stone change to a different thermal color Purple is a compound word. Purr and Pull can be extracted during pronunciation and found in nature at Spring cool (April Fool) Pull colors and Autumn equinox as Purr, or Rus, surging yellows and red. The difference between a mirror and a mirage is perhaps the AG elemental material that stops and plugs vacuums. I have to guess throwing colloidal silver of the tibetan variety on a naturally occurring black water mirror may stop and plug the vacuum interfering with thermals. Heal the environment!
